

Meeting Students' Needs Through Universal Design for Learning as a Component of Multi-Tiered System of Supports

By Request

To request this workshop, send an email message to the contact person identified below.

Twenty first century classrooms are full of diverse learners with varying needs. It is the job of all teachers to meet students where they are and bring them to where they need to be. This workshop is designed to provide participants with innovative and fresh ideas that will help drive instruction to meet the needs of the diverse learners in your classroom. Be prepared to pull up your sleeves and try new instructional strategies and technology that can meet the needs of twenty first century learners.

Presenter(s): Anna Kauble, Ed.D., Program Specialists, Monterey County SELPA

Participants: Special education teachers, speech language pathologists, and special education service providers

Time: This is a 3-hour presentation

Contact: selpa@montereycoe.org